150-Bed Hospital Recommended; Granger Blocks Wage Ordinance

Open conflict between former mayor Floyd D. Granger and City Mgr. Robert W. Mead continued at the city council meeting Monday night when Granger blocked introduction of the city salary ordinance in his announced campaign to fight the proposal to increase Mead's salary.

Granger also scored when he forced City Atty. Paul A. McCarthy to reverse his position on the validity of the sale of two city water department pumps for $600 two years ago.

While Granger awaited an official report at the next council meeting, it appeared that the two pumps had been sold without the knowledge of the council and without following bid.

McCarthy first ruled that the charter contained no provisions for the sale of any city property but real estate. After re-reading the charter section at Granger's request, he admitted that it is probable that all city property is included. The charter requires public notice and appointment of an appraiser to check values.

Mead said the two pumps had been disposed of two years ago in the same manner used by his predecessor in office in selling other citl equipment.

"Should such things be sold without the council's knowledge?" demanded Councilman George McNulty. "Someday we may find that someone has sold the library."

McCarthy said he had "recommended" that the city manager give public notice for sales of all city property, and after re-reading the charter section said it probably would be necessary to appoint an appraiser in each case.

Granger blocked introduction of the salary ordinance, which would boost the city payroll approximately $29,000 over the current year, for the reason that he had not had an opportunity to inspect it.

No objection was offered to a delay until the next council meeting.

After the meeting Granger explained that he is still opposed to a salary increase which will bring the city manager's annual pay to $7200. He maintained that it is worth $50 a month more to provide the city official with an automobile in which to commute between his city hall office and Palo Alto home.

Friends of the city manager said, however, that he is negotiating for the purchase of a lot on which to erect his own home in Redwood City.

Appointment of Edward G. Fogarty to the rank of sergeant in the Redwood City Police Dept. was announced to the city council by City Mgr. Robert W. Mead. Mead said Fogarty, a veteran of many years' service, was one of the ee top men in a recently conted competitive examination.

Sergeant Fogarty replaces Patrolman Clyde Genochio, who had been acting as sergeant since W. H. Thorpe was granted a one-year leave of absence in February. Thorpe is now special investigator in the district attorney's office.

The council voted to ask for review of the civil service regulations to determine whether or not seniority should not be given greated consideration in grading applicants for promotion.

The council also:

. Named the war memorial commission as the city's official representative at the conference on war memorials called for June 15 by the county planning commission.

Granted an application for cancellation of delinquent taxes on property owned by the Veterans Welfare Board.

Sold to James B. Murphy for $275 plus unpaid sidewalk assessment a lot at Duane and Harrison.

Voted to require M. Weber, low bidder on three sdiewalk improvement projects, to supply corporate instead of personal surety.

Granted Councilman Evans A. Fletcher permission to leave the state for two weeks.

Instructed the city manager to trim trees on Brewster Ave. which block vision and parking.

Congratulated the city street and park departments on the maintenance of Union Cemetery.

Dr. Thomas R. Ponton and Associates, confessional service accounting, have gone on fessional service accounting, today were on record favoring construction of a 150-bed hospital for Redwood City. Dr. Ponton's report, submitted to the city council Monday night, recommended construction "as soon as possible" of the first unit of 50 to 75 beds, with working facilities of sufficient capacity to serve the ultimate 150 bed hospital.

The report also recommended construction at this time of two five-bed cottages for convalescents and those suffering from chronic illnesses. He recommended a site of from four to six acres in a suburban section.

Dr. Ponton estimated the outlay for the first unit would be $5000 per bed or $250,000, plus $20,000 for the cottage units. He estimated the cost of subsequent units at $3500 per bed.

To finance the $270,000 institution Dr. Ponton suggested formation of a hospital district under a bill now before the legislature. As alternatives he suggested private subscription through a non-profit corporation, or a city bond issue.

The hospital expert warned against a city bond issue.

"The title to the property would be vested in the city governmental agency and, as a result of the responsibility of that agency to the taxpayers, there is grave danger of political domination," he reported. "This is a danger that must be avoided, since experience has shown that the injection of politics into the administration of a hospital materially lessens the quality of service, a factor that would be fatal in the type of hospital that is proposed."

Dr. Ponton concluded the report with an outline of operating principles which he predicted would make the hospital self-supporting.

After receiving the report the council thanked the Redwood City Chamber of Commerce for its efforts in obtaining the survey at a nominal cost. The city allocated $500 for the purpose. Dr. Ponton's bill was $378.23.

Mrs. Henry A. Beeger, member of the community development section of the chamber and a leader in the movement to establish a hospital in Redwood City, praised the report as "very comprehensive."

She expressed some doubts about the hospital district plan and said in her opinion the private subscription system would probably produce the most satisfactory results. Neither Graham Adams, chairman of the development section, nor Teddy Lauman, president of the chamber, was prepared to comment.

Dr. Ponton's report included a discussion of the economic classification of hospital patients, types of illness and disabilities to be cared for, and the population growth in the area to be served.

After weighing available data, he predicted a population of 19,400 for Redwood City by 1950.

The report complimented the San Mateo County Health Department as "well organized" and pointed out that the county-operated Community Hospital would relieve the proposed Redwood City institution of indigent, tuberculous, mental and venereal disease cases.

"The Community Hospital in San Mateo is only 10 miles distant," he pointed out," over an extremely good road and emergency cases could be transported to that institution in less time than is required in the average large city."

The Redwood City hospital therefore need establish no emergency service, Dr. Ponton believes.

He predicted that the service area of the proposed hospital would overlap the service areas of Mills Memorial Hospital on the north and Palo Alto Hospital on the south. He placed the Redwood City hospital service area between the north city limits of San Carols and the southern boundary of Atherton.

He said "there is a definite need for a hospital in Redwood City" and predicted that the need would increase steadily.

"The building constructed at this time should porvide working facilities such as operating rooms, laboratories, administrative departments, boiler house, laundry, etc., of sufficient size to serve the ultimate hospital," the report concluded.

Supervisors Add to Biggest Budget; Scott In Protest; 'We Tried Hard':McDonald

BY OTTO TALLENT

San Mateo County's budget for the fiscal year 1945-46 will surpass the already unprecedented figure of $4,079,254.87 which had been proposed, following approval of additional expenditures by the board of supervisors Tuesday.

The supervisors were continuing their hearing on the budget Tuesday afternoon.

Approval of expenditures, which were heard item by item, was not given without protest, however. Winfield Scott, manager of the County Civic League and known as "the watchdog of county expenditures," demanded that an investigation be made of all departments in an effort to reduce some of the figures.

"The time has come not for a sweep out, but for a complete investigation," Scott exclaimed.

Supervisor Thomas L. Hickey, who recently proposed that a survey be made of efficiency experts to determine the needs of each department in county government, renewed his proposal today when he told Scott: "I agree with you on the necessity of a survey."

Supervisor Chmn. Edward R. McDonald declared that "we have tried very, very hard to keep the budget down." He added that there are two ways the situation might be remedied: By a survey by efficiency experts or a general inspection of each department.

Much of the increase in expenditures was blamed by Supervisor Hickey upon the county charter.

"The people of this county voted a charter," Hickey said. "There is no question that the charter has increased expenditures of the county."

He added that the supervisors take "the brunt of it because they set the tax."

Scott said he was not opposed to civil service nor to salary equalization. He fired most of his shots at the department of public health and welfare, and strenuously objected to the establishment of 16 new positions at Community Hospital.

Scott pointed out that the increase in salaries for all departments for the next fiscal year over the present fiscal year is $155,279 (figures for special districts are not included).

In the health and welfare department, he said, the general budget (salaries, capital outlay and maintenance and operation) has increased $174,438 over the present fiscal year. The increase in this department since the 1940-41 budget amounts to $520,425, he said.

The supervisors allowed $1800 for a senior typist clerk for the purchasing department, upon recommendation form the civil service commission. County Executive Frederick Peterson had requested a chief clerk. There was no discussion of the matter at today's meeting.

Among additional expenditures made in the budget was $750 for extra help in the treasurer's office. This was made necessary by injuries suffered by three members of his staff in an automobile accident Friday afternoon in San Mateo, leaving County Treas. A. H. Sagehorn only one clerk.

Other increases allowed by the supervisors Tuesday, included $350 to Coroner William F. Crosby for an increase in pathologist's wages; $3506 for Clerk William H. Augustus for additional election booths and equipment; $2000 for an automobile for Bldg. Inspr. A. W. Russell.

Only decrease made was from $6000 to $3500 for a two-way radio system in Sheriff James J. McGrath's department.

Buys Lot, Told He Can't Build

Jay Fogel of Garden Valley is ranged as Redwood City's most protesting taxpayer.

At the city council meeting Monday night it developed that Fogel was "sold" a 25-foot lot, then informed that he couldn't build on it because of a city zoning ordinance.

City Atty. Paul McCarthy explained that the narrow lot, on Hudson St. between James and Harrison, lies between two other built-up lots. Under city law, and building on Fogel's lot must allow four feet leeway from each property line. This would allow Fogel a home 17 feet in width. It was admitted that the council had refused to approve building permits for such structures.

Fogel, in an angry letter, complained that he had been sold a bill of goods in 1944 when the city bargained with him to reduce tax delinquencies from $342 to $171. He paid his money, he wrote, only to find out that he was virtually forbidden to use the property.

On motion by City Councilman C. C. Armstrong the council notified Fogel that he can build a 17-foot building on the property and that there is nothing the city council can do about his predicament. As an afterthought, Councilman Harold Anderson added an amendment: The problem will be referred to proper city authorities who will try to sell Fogel's lot to owners of adjoining property.

Burlingame Flier Dies In Crash

BURLINGAME—The plan of F/O John C. Gardiner, 22, to spend Memorial Day in Burlingame with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. K. Gardiner of 1576 Columbus Ave., ended in his death when an army plane crashed east of Mt. Hamilton in Santa Clara County, the Fourth Air Force announced Tuesday.

The young officer had previously been reported as missing when his plane failed to arrive at Mills Field on Tuesday night, after leaving Hammer Field in the last lap of a cross-country flight from the Army Air Field at Carlsbad, N. M.

The wreckage of the twin engine bomber with the bodies of Gardiner and his three fellow crew members was discovered late yesterday by air force searchers. Names of the other victims were withheld pending notification of their families.

Gardiner was a native of Seattle, his family having moved to Burlingame when he was two. He graduated from Burlingame High School and had attended the University of California Agricultural College at Davis, taking a pre-veterinarian course.

He also leaves a brother, Stephen, now serving as an infantry officer in the South Pacific.

Bonham's Wife Asks Divorce

Mrs. O. F. Bonham Monday carried out her threat to divorce Spencer W. Bonham, manager of a Burlingame chain store who is being sought on a charge of grand larceny by filing a divorce suit against him in superior court here. She charged her husband with extreme cruelty.

Bonham is charged with grand larceny in connection with alleged embezzlement of funds from Sprouse-Reitz Co. in excess of $200 (reported to be $3000). A statewide search is on for Bonham, who disappeared May 19.

Mrs. Bonham asked for all community property, which includes household furnishings and equipment and clothing, and that she be allowed to resume her maiden name of Ivy Orma Fotheringham. The couple was married in Los Angeles Apr. 3, 1937. She lists May 19 as the date of separation. They have no children.

Atherton Millionaire, Wed 45 Years, Sued for Divorce

Arthur Bachman, retired, of Atherton, whose community property with his wife is valued at almost $1,000,000, Wednesday was sued for divorce by Amy R. Bachman, to whom he has been married for 45 years.

Mrs. Bachman asked for all community property, $1000 a month for personal expenses, $5000 attorney's fees, and for an order restraining Bachman from disposing of community property.

Mrs. Bachman, who charged her husband with extreme cruelty, stated that community property includes stocks and bonds of numerous corporations of the probable value of at least $500,000 and commercial accounts in San Francisco in excess of $17,000.

Mrs. Bachman claims that real property in Atherton is her separate property, but asserts that Bachman has claimed certain title thereto. The home is 292 Valparaiso Ave., Atherton, where the couple moved in 1931.

Stocks, bonds and other securities in the names of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bachman Jr., son and daughter-in-law of the couple, in excess of $200,000, are held in trust for Bachman.

The Atherton home, valued at $40,000, "requires for its proper maintenance and for the comfort of plaintiff, servants and other maintenance costs in excess of $500 a month," the complaint states.

Mrs. Bachman, who says she is in ill health and resides in Southern California four months out of the year for her health, alleged that for the past year Bachman has refused to pay her expenses to Southern California or to pay expenses in connection with the Atherton home.

The couple was married in San Francisco Feb. 19, 1900, and separated May 19, 1944. Bachman retired from active business in 1924 and since that time has been in receipt of an annual income of from $25,000 to $55,000, the complaint states.

Louisiana is divided into "parishes," originally for religious purposes but kept for governmental divisions.

'Lady Churchill' Aide Sentenced

Faced in court by witnesses against him, John G. Porter, 68, who had pleaded not guilty to fleecing a Lodi couple of $8000 at Benjamin Franklin Hotel in San Mateo last Aug. 24, and had demanded a jury trial, Tuesday, changed his mind, pleaded guilty to grand theft and waived time for sentence. He was sentenced by Superior Court Judge A. R. Cotton to San Quentin for a term prescribed by law. The term is 1 to 10 years.

Thirty-six prospective jurors were on hand in Judge Cotton's court this morning ready to try Porter's case.

Porter, who is one of the leading bunco artists in the United States, this morning was faced by Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Fiesel of Lodi, from whom he had secured $8000 to wind up an auto court transaction. Porter and his two companions, Hazel Brownell, alias "Lady Churchill," 50, and Mat J. Smith, placed the money on a fake horse race and left San Mateo.

"Lady Churchill" pleaded guilty to conspiracy in the case and is serving a year sentence in the county jail here. She had been subpoenaed to appear in court today to identify Porter.

The Report on R.C.'s Need For Hospital: A Summary

(Editor's Note: This is the first of a series of articles summarizing the report of Dr. Thomas R. Ponton and associates on the need of a hospital in Redwood City. This report is now before the city council for consideration).

"Hospitals are a public service established and maintained for the purpose of caring for the sick of all economic classes, and in any community there should be provision for the treatment of those suffering from any type of illness. The purpose of the present survey is to determine whether or not these requirements are being met in so far as Redwood City is concerned and to find a means of meeting any deficiencies that may exist."

With this definition, Dr. Thomas R. Ponton and Associates opened their "Survey of Redwood City" presented to the city council this week.

There follows a discussion of the economic classification of patients through four classes from the well-to-do who demand all the comforts of home in a hospital to the absolutely indigent.

The survey then discusses types of illness and disability to be treated, divided roughly into two categories: active and inactive. The discussion leads to six general conclusions:

1. Every community should have available provision for the care of patients in all economic classifications.
2. Active hospitals should be provided for those suffering from acute illnesses or disabilities and for diagnosis of complicated cases.
3. Accommodations should include a few luxury rooms, a preponderance of low priced one and two-bedrooms for patients of moderate income, one or two four-bedrooms for industrial workers, and wards.
4. Out patient clinics should be available.
5. There should be an examining room in the hospital where members of the staff may see ambulatory patients.
6. Convalescent and inactive hospitals should be provided for those who cannot receive adequate care in their homes.

Russell issued 81 permits for new construction last month, compared to 49 for May last year. Permits for 8 new residences totaling $24,100 were issued in May, 1944, compared to 30 permits for new residences totaling $140,700 last month.

Increase More Than $600,000 Over Last Year

An all-time high budget for San Mateo County of $4,094,-954.87, an increase of more than $600,000 over the budget for the present fiscal year, was adopted by the board of supervisors Tuesday afternoon for the fiscal years 1945-46.

The net increase over the proposed budget, after some expenditures were increased and others decreased at the hearing, amounted to $15,700.

Winfield Scott, manager of the County Civic League, made the only protest at the hearing.

After considerable discussion about including a fund for a survey of county departments to determine the number of employes needed, it was decided if a survey were ordered the money for it could be taken from the unbudgeted reserve.

Supervisor Thomas L. Hickey suggested that $2500 be set aside for a survey, particularly of the health and welfare department, but other members of the board protested that an amount could not be determined until it was definitely decided that a survey should be made and the kind of survey to be conducted had been determined.

Supervisor Alvin S. Hatch made the suggestion that a study of the necessity of a survey be made, and that if a survey is required, the money can be taken from the unbudgeted reserve.

"Let the matter ride until such time it is found desirable to make a study of the health and welfare department or any other department," Supervisor Chmn. Edward R. McDonald said. "Get funds from the unbudgeted reserve. Such will be the order."

Supervisor Hatch declared that if the survey did not amount to more than surveys that have been made in the past it wouldn't amount to much.

Main contention for a survey revolved around the health and welfare department, in which most of the new jobs have been established.

Dr. Charles C. Gans, director of the health and welfare department, was taken to task at a previous meeting of the board for setting up new divisions in his department without first consulting the supervisors.

The increase in the budget for the next fiscal year over what was allowed for the present fiscal year is $632,633.15. The figure for the next year includes re-appropriated funds.

Allowed in the budget for the next fiscal year in general classifications:

Salaries and wages	$1,343,133.00
Maintenance and operation	2,033,021.50
Capital outlay	529,685.37
Interest and debt redemption	34,115.00
Unappropriated reserves	55,000.00
General reserves	100,000.00
Total	$4,094,954.87

The salary fund, excluding law library, social welfare, county free library and road department, is $1,219,323. The general fund is $786,-209.37 and the social welfare fund is $912,715.

Among new items added at the hearing was $3600 for animal shelter ,which was provided for in an ordinance regulating and licensing dogs in unincorporated areas. The service was placed in County Agricultural Comsr. Max J. Leonard's department.

About 28 million homes in the United States are wired for electricity.

Somebody Has A Bomb Fuse

Police and army officers are appealing to the public for return of the fuse from a 500-lb. army bomb displayed here Tuesday afternoon.

Capt. Frank B. Fisher, in charge of the army ordnance department's "million dollar bond show" brought to Redwood City Tuesday afternoon, said the fuse was stolen from the exhibit at Winslow St. and Broadway between 4 and 6 p.m. when under guard of civilian police.

The captain declined to state whether the fuse was armed or not.

The fuse is a white object resembling a can, 2 inches in diameter and 1¼ inches thick. A 3-inch propeller is lashed to the fuse.

Deputies Seek Court Test of Wartime Post

The San Mateo County Civil Service Commission's authority to delay making permanent appointments until the war's end was put to a test Wednesday when two deputy sheriffs filed a petition for writ of mandate against the commission to compel it to give them permanent status.

Filing the petition were Nicholas Zompolis, who was appointed a deputy sheriff on Dec. 1, 1943, and Irvin Bedford, who was appointed July 20, 1943. Bedford is now serving as a Redwood City policeman, and his request for a leave of absence from the county position was to be taken up by the civil service commission this afternoon.

Superior Court Judge A. R. Schottky of Mariposa County, who is here for the renewal of the Herrscher-Howard case, signed the alternative writ, returnable July 9 at 1:30 p.m.

The petitioners referred to Section 14 of the county charter which states that no successive temporary appointments may be made and no person shall be employed in temporary capacities for more than six months in any one year.

The civil service commission several months ago decided to dispense with examinations and make only provisional (temporary) appointments for the duration of the war. The proposal was advocated by County Executive Frederick Peterson.

Zompolis and Bedford made application to the commission Apr. 24 of this year for permanent status but the request was denied by the commission, the petition states.

La Fever Changes Plea to Not Guilty

Harold A. La Fever, 25-year-old sailor, Tuesday withdrew his plea of guilty to a charge of manslaughter growing out of an accident on Bayshore Hwy. near the Belle Haven underpass Aug. 27, in which five persons were killed.

La Fever, who was arrested in San Diego early in May after he returned from submarine duty in the Pacific, appeared in Superior Juduge Maxwell McNutt's court on his request for probation and changed his plea to not guilty. His trial by jury has been set for Aug. 14. He is at liberty on $1000 bail.

All Dance Permits To Be Reconsidered

Efforts of the Foresters to win city permission to resume sale of beer at their weekly dances in Foresters' Hall has threatened to ban all dance permits in all buildings where liquor or beer is sold.

A delegation of Foresters who appeared before the city council Monday night to defend the organization's management of its Saturday night dances threatened to close the hall if the beer permit was not restored.

First vote on the issue resulted in a 3-3 tie, Councilman Carl Britschgi being absent. On a new motion, Mayor W. W. Hilton changed his vote, but explained that it was merely to "settle the matter for this evening" and that it anticipated a review of the entire dance permit situation on June 30.

Subsequently the council revoked all dance permits, as of June 30, and notified holders of permits to apply on that date for renewal.

Less fortunate than the Foresters was Joseph Boll, new owner of Club Scamus, 2345 Middlefield Rd. His application for a dance permit was denied by unanimous action.

Crux of the problem is a 1936 ordinance which forbids dancing in any "room or enclosure" in which liquor or beer is sold.

Councilman Chester C. Armstrong argued that the Forester's beer room is in the same building, and therefore in the same "enclosure," as the dance hall. While his thesis did not prevail, none of the councilmen was convinced that a drape separating the Scamus Club dance floor from the bar made it a separate "enclosure."

Mayor Hilton disclosed that the navy threatened to place Redwood City on the "out of bounds" list three or four months ago because of difficulties at the hall.

Armstrong offered a motion to grant dance permits for June 9 and 16 with the sale of beer barred.

Councilmen Granger, George McNulty and Harold Anderson voted "No," killing the motion despite "Yes" votes by Hilton, Armstrong and Evans A. Fletcher.

Granger then offered a motion that the dance dates be granted, with permission to sell beer in a separate room. His motion carried 4 to 2.

Chief Ryan Turns Cowhand, Rounds Up Runaway Horse

Fire Chief Mark Ryan turned cowpuncher Sunday.

The chief had just driven up to his home at 21 Duane St. when he beheld a horse and buggy dashing by. There wasn't any driver.

The chief set out in pursuit. At the corner of Whipple Ave. he picked up young David Morse, owner of the horse, and a boy companion who hopped onto the running board of the chief's car, and ordered the chief to "follow that horse!"

The chase wound through the streets to McKinley School, where Chief Ryan edged the horse over to the curb. David and his friend jumped from the car and grabbed the reins of the slightly winded animal.

At this point Officer William Faulstitch, summoned by the chief's shortwave radio, arrived on the scene. The chief mopped his brow and said he was glad that Bill had arrived.

"I don't know much about horses," the chief admitted.

For the third consecutive year, San Francisco is again the Bright Spot of the Nation, with the lowest combined bills for gas, electric and telephone service for average family use. (Comparably low rates apply also to other communities served by this company.)

The table above, taken from the annual report of the California Railroad Commission for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1944 shows:

1. That San Francisco has lowest utility rates among the 25 largest U. S. Cities. Average monthly bills here are $1.83 for gas, $2.37 for electricity and $3.00 for telephone—a total of $7.20. Los Angeles, with a tax-exempt municipal electric system is third with a total bill of $7.76.

2. That the monthly average bill for gas and electricity in San Francisco is $4.20. In Los Angeles the charge is $4.51. The one major city in the U. S. with a lower bill is Cleveland with $4.16—a monthly difference of only 4 cents.

Wartime conditions have brought many increases in the cost of living as well as lowering the quality of service. Your gas and electric costs have gone down and quality of service has been maintained.

Youth Attempts Suicide by Setting Fire in Jail Here

Tired of "being caged up like an animal," a South San Francisco youth Monday narrowly escaped death in a flaming inferno in the county jail here after he set fire to his mattress in a suicide attempt.

The youth, Edward W. Smith, 20, who is serving a 30-day sentence on a charge of failure to provide for his small child, was discovered in unconscious condition at 9:40 o'clock Monday night by fellow inmates of the jail who began to choke from smoke.

Jailer John Quinlan and jail trusties rushed into Smith's cell, removed Smith to a corridor and extinguished the blaze, which burned under a mattress and badly scorched the walls, with a hose. Smith had made entry into his cell difficult by tieing a cloth around the door lever.

Smith had thrown his clothes outside his cell and wrapped inside them was a note on yellow paper and written with a pencil which read: "I am tired of being caged up like an animal without seeing any visitors. I would rather be shot. I love my freedom and hate this damn place."

Smith was examined by Dr. Harry Mason and sent to Community Hospital at San Mateo, where it was reported that he suffered no burns. He was being treated for carbon monoxide poisoning, however. Jail attendants here said they believed he had feigned unconsciousness last night.

Justice of the Peace R. A. Rapsey of South San Francisco sentenced Smith to a 30-day jail term for failure to provide. He was booked at the jail May 20.

Special Menlo Park Census Authorized by Council

The U .S. Department of Commerce will take a census of Menlo Park starting tomorrow, it was announced last night at a special meeting of the city council.

The count is being taken at the request of the council who believe there has been a sufficient increase in population to enable the city to file for a larger share of the state gasoline tax funds.

Police Chief Jack Yount announced today that a number of Menlo Park residents will be employed as census takers. Those wishing to file application for the job may do so by calling PA 9232 or visiting the city hall.

John Demeter of the Palo Alto City Lines held a conference with the council following the meeting to discuss his application to extend his bus service to Menlo Park. The Redwood City Lines have also applied for a franchise to serve the same area.

The next meeting of the council will be held June 12 at 7:30 p.m.

Mills Field Improvement Program Hits Snag

Plans for the proposed $20,000,000 improvement program at Mills Field in San Mateo County hit a snag Monday when the San Francisco Board of Supervisors voted to await a recommendation on the project from the city's post-war advisory committee.

The matter was brought up again by Supervisor Dan Gallagher, board president, who urged that the supervisors start hearings immediately to bring an early decision on submission to the voters of San Francisco of a bond issue to finance the airport program.

COMPANY TEAMWORK

It takes a lot of people with a lot of different talents to run a company like Johns-Manville.

First, of course, there are the plant workers who actually run the machines and make the products. J-M has nearly 8,000 of these men and women. But there wouldn't be any jobs for them without the help of a lot of other people.

There have to be machines to work with, buildings and a lot of other things. The stockholders who own the company provide the money for these. J-M has about 8,200 stockholders. They help make jobs. Their stake in the company amounts to about $55,000,000—or $4,200 for each of J-M's 13,000 jobholders.

Then there are the executives and supervisors. Good ones are scarce. And the company couldn't get anywhere without them, any more than a ship can steer a true course without a captain. It's up to them to make the company successful so that it can keep on operating. In J-M, an Officers Board of 18 executives is directly responsible for the general management of the company. There are about 700 factory managers, sales managers, superintendents, engineers and foremen.

Laboratory Men, Salesmen, Office Workers

And there are the men who think up new products to make new jobs. J-M has about 250 workers in its Research Laboratory. Just before the war, over half of J-M jobs were the result of adding new products through a program of research, expansion and development.

The company has to send men out to find thousands of customers and sell them our products. J-M has over 700 salesmen. THEY make jobs.

Another 1,300 men apply J-M products in homes and factories and other places.

And there are the people who make out the bills, write the letters and do all the other office work—over 2,000 in J-M.

There isn't a man on this whole J-M team who doesn't play an important part. There isn't a man on the team who isn't helping all the others.
